Trump's purchases tell an interesting story. From early acquisitions (ImBeingSuedByTheDonald.com), to business dealings, both future and current (TrumpRussia.com), Trump's domains tell a tale. In 2012, these URLs even predicted his political ambitions (VoteAgainstTrump.com – he tried to tell us). Even a cursory glance at his domain portfolio provides Nietzsche-level insight into the Trump empire.

Parents beware – your kid could be a squatter

All of this is fairly standard practice in business. Purchasing domain names to keep them out of the hands of detractors is standard practice for the Apples and Googles of the world. Registering a domain, after all, is much cheaper than purchasing it later from a squatter.

TrumpNetworkPonziScheme.com

Trump may have had a crystal ball in some cases. After launching the Trump Network in 2009 – a 'recession proof' multi-level marketing business hawking vitamin supplements – he was quick to scoop up domains like TrumpNetworkFraud.com, TrumpPyramidScheme.com, and TrumpNetworkPonziScheme.com. He sold the business in 2012 amid allegations of – surprise – fraud.

This Press Release is the sixth of a series of releases to reposition UBERMORGEN beyond action. Beyond action lies truth, and truth is (pure and simple) repeatable, verifiable patterns. We call those truths 'laws' or 'rules'. Simultaneously such patterns can appear as ephemeral, aesthetic and delusional: Binary Primitivism, searching for Silicon Valley Alt-Right Manosphere bubbles of insecurity and simplified representation, filling the void by creating a blister-bladder to draw off between on and off, between zero and one and Osterschinken.
